

Windows Mullered Together Detail

---

The two window frame sides are butted up against each other (no fins) and two rigid polyurethane mullion strips (one each side) are slid into place. No sealant is necessary once the strips are in place. Windows can be mullered together either horizontally or stacked vertically.

